

Landlocked States

Examining Bolivia and Paraguay

Landlocked States

- A landlocked state is a country without direct access to the sea

Case Studies: Bolivia and Paraguay

- South American countries who do not have direct access to the sea
 - Rely on neighbors for access

Activity: Impacts of Landlocked States

Instructions: Work with a partner to complete the E.S.P.N Chart below highlighting the Potential impacts of being landlocked on a state and it's people

Economic	Social
Political	Natural